Belt conveyors from Biomass Engineering & Equipment are the premier choice for a horizontal or low-angle conveyance system. Built without catch points, our belt conveyors will transport your bulk materials without snags that slow production. They're safe and make for easier clean up.

Features

- One piece, seamless tray
- Sections welded together and ground smooth
- Rollers only used in tail section, so dust collects in one spot
- Powered by direct drive
- Optional metal detector available
- Variety of belt materials available
